

February 26 [4-6 pm] • Koerner Library [Rm. 216]

The Research Commons invites graduate students from any discipline to examine the frameworks of power that govern our world.

What factors contribute to systems of domination, privilege, marginalization, oppression and liberation? • How do power dynamics play out in research and scientific inquiry? • Are there parallels between manifestations of power in social and mechanical systems? • How can unequal and oppressive relationships affect behaviour? • How can power be implemented to improve well-being?

Join us as we discuss these topics during our next FIREtalk, Frameworks of Power. Register at: <http://bit.ly/FrameworksofPower> or just stop by the FIREtalk!

FIREtalks: An interdisciplinary forum for graduate students, by graduate students. Find out more: <http://bit.ly/firetalk>