

Getting Started with APA Citation Style

What is APA Style?

American Psychological Association (APA) style is one of several styles for academic writing. This Getting Started library handout covers frequently used citation forms and refers to the Manual (Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association - BF 76.7 .P83 2010) and the Guide (APA Style Guide to Electronic References, May, 2012). Unless otherwise stated below, section and page numbers referred to are from the Manual.

General Rules

- Formatting: The preferred APA font is a serif typeface such as Times New Roman with 12-point size. Double-space between all lines of text, including the reference list. Have uniform margins of at least 1 in. (2.54 cm) on all sides.
- Hanging indents should be used for the reference list entries. This means that all lines after the first line of each entry should be indented one half inch from the left margin (in Word 2007 use Paragraph>Special>Hanging).
- Arrange reference list entries in alphabetical order by the surname of the first author or by title if there is no author. Use only the initial(s) of the author's given name, not the full name, with a space between the initials.
- If the reference list includes two or more entries by the same author(s), list them in chronological order (oldest first). If entries are by the same author with the same year, put them in alphabetical order by first letter of the title. Add a lower case letter (a, b, etc.) after the year, within the parentheses.
- Capitalize only the first letter of the first word in the article or book title. Proper nouns are also capitalized as well as the word following a colon (subtitle). Journal titles should have every major word capitalized.
- Italicize journal titles, volume numbers and even the comma following the journal title. Do not italicize issue numbers (i.e., the number which appears in parentheses after the volume number).
- References cited in the text must appear in the reference list and vice versa. The only exceptions to this rule are personal communications and original works cited in secondary sources, which are cited in the text only and are not included in the reference list.

Citations in Text

1. When using a direct quotation, include the page number of the quote (sec. 6.03 p. 170).
 - Stereotypes have been defined as “generalized and usually value-laden impressions that one’s social group uses in characterizing members of another group” (Lindgren, 2001, p. 1617).
2. When paraphrasing an idea, the citation will include author(s) and date.
 - Author’s name given in the body of your paper:
 - Lindgren (2001) reported. . .
 - Author’s name not given in the body of your paper:
 - A study of the comparison process (Lindgren, 2001)
3. For electronic sources without page numbers, use the abbreviation para. If the paragraph number is not apparent, cite the section heading and the paragraph number following it (sec. 6.05 p. 171).
 - (Myers, 2000, para. 5)
 - (Butler, 2000, Conclusion, para. 1)
4. Order multiple works within the same parentheses as they would appear in the reference list (sec. 6.16 p.177).
 - Past research (Heschl, 2001, 2005; Noonan & Johnson, 2002a, 2002b) has shown...
5. For citations to original works taken from secondary sources, which you should use sparingly (sec. 6.17 p. 178), list the work you have read (secondary source) in the reference list and in-text add the words “as cited in” to the parenthetical citation.
 - Berringer’s study found ... (as cited in Gattrell, 2012).
6. Within a paragraph, when the name of the author is part of the narrative, there is no need to include the year in subsequent non-parenthetical references (sec. 6.11 p. 174).
 - Kurtz (2013) reported that cultural safety.... Kurtz also found....

According to the APA Style Guide to Electronic References (p. 6), you should include the DOI format in your reference list that appears on the source you are citing, if it has one at all, and these may be in one of the following two formats: doi:10.1016/j.bandc.2005.09.013 OR http://dx.doi.org/10.1016/j.bandc.2005.09.013

NOTES & HANDOUTS

According to the APA Style Guide to Electronic References (p. 31) you should treat lecture notes and class handouts that are only available via course management software (such as Connect), or from someone who attended the lecture, as personal communication.

Personal communication (p. 179 sec. 6.20)

Includes letters, phone calls, email messages, and interviews. Because they include "unrecoverable data," they are NOT included in the reference list.
