

Aggregators

<http://cybraryman.com/digcit.html>

Over 20,000 relevant links personally selected by an educator/author with over 30 years of experience.

Curriculum

<http://www.common sense media.org/educators/scope-and-sequence>

Digital Literacy and Citizenship Classroom Curriculum by Common Sense Media. Which unique material from grades K-8, these free to use guides teach digital footprint, cyberbullying, copyright, information literacy, privacy and more. Each lesson contains videos, lesson plans and assessments in English and Spanish. The site also has training materials and MOOCs for educators.

Infographics

<http://www.common sense media.org/educators/posters>

Created by Common Sense Media, these are designed for younger students for elementary classrooms.

<http://www.pinterest.com/edutopia/digital-citizenship/>

Edutopia's Pinterest board aggregates graphics to help teach students about digital citizenship.

Media

<http://www.brainpopjr.com/spotlights/digitalcitizenship/>

BrainPop JR has two modules on cyberbullying and internet safety aimed at young elementary students. They include animated videos, games and quizzes.

<http://www.google.com/edu/teachers/youtube/curric/index.html>

Youtube has created a three step course for teachers and student on how to become model users of the website

Other

<http://www.cyberwise.org/index.html>

Cyberwise focuses on teaching adults on how they can get up to date on new media in order to teach and project youths in their community.