Five Principles of Curriculum Design

- Be authentic, real-world, and relevant
- Be constructive, sequential, and interlinked
- Require students to use and engage with progressively higher-order cognitive processes
- Be aligned with each other and the desired learning outcome
- Provide challenge, interest, and motivation to learn

Meyers and Nulty (2009).

Authentic Assessment

Authenticity is understood as realism, contextualisation and problematisation when teaching and assessing curricular content.

- Realism involves linking knowledge with everyday life and work.
- Contextualisation characterises situations where knowledge can be applied in an analytical and thoughtful way.
- Problematisation invokes a sense that what is learned can be used to solve a problem or meet a need.

Thereby authentic assessment aims to integrate what happens in the classroom with employment, replicating the tasks and performance standards typically faced by professionals in the world of work

Critical Elements in Designing Authentic Assessments

Yes/No

1. Challenge: Does the assessment activity challenge the student to an appropriate extent?
2. Authentic Product/Performance: Is an actual or simulated real-life product or performance required as a final assessment outcome?
3. Transfer of Learning: Does the assessment activity require that transfer of learning has occurred by means of demonstration of skill or learning?
4. Metacognition: Does the assessment activity require that metacognition is demonstrated by means of critical reflection?
5. Feedback: Does the assessment activity require discussion and feedback?
6. Collaboration: Does the assessment activity require that students collaborate?

Ashford-Rowe, K., Kerrington, J., & Brown, C. (2014).

Logistic Reminders in Designing Authentic Assessments

- Front-heavy preparation
 - Assessment descriptions, Rubrics, Supporting resources
- Course and material organization
 - Accessible, and easy to find
 - Clear and not misinterpreted instructions
- Informal assessment opportunities
 - Ungraded self-check quizzes or reflection questions
 - Q&A discussion boards
 - Feedback requests
- Communication with students
 - Announcements, emails, discussion boards
- Adjustment time or opportunity
 - Practice assignments, tests, exams

Independent Reflection (10 min)

- Jot down your ideas on a piece of paper
 - List existing assessment strategies in your own courses
 - On your overall course assessment strategies:
 - How would you enhance your existing assessment strategies considering the critical design elements for authentic assessments?
 - Challenge
 - Authentic product/performance
 - Transfer of learning
 - Metacognition
 - Feedback
 - Collaboration
 - How each of your assessment components support each other and lead to a final authentic product/performance?

For the authentic assessment idea(s) you pick to discuss and document in the group, use the guiding questions below to reflect and provide feedback to the idea:

1. Challenge - How does your assessment strategy challenge your students at the appropriate level?
2. Authentic Product/Performance - What's the final product/performance? Will that be recognized as authentic by real-world professionals/clients? Or, will it simulate the real-world environment?
3. Transfer of Learning: By what means will students demonstrate the skill or learning?
4. Metacognition: How will students demonstrate their critical reflection in their metacognition?
5. Feedback: How will students receive and provide feedback to each other and/or from instructors?
6. Collaboration: How will students get opportunities to collaborate with each other or with real-world partners?

Authentic Assessment Idea	Steps/Milestone Assignments	Activities	Questions/Challenges
What's the final authentic product/performance?	List the steps/milestone assignments to help students to produce the final product or to perform the final performance.	What and how will you ask students to do for each step/milestone assignment?	Any questions/ challenges you may have to implement each step?
e.g. Idea 1 Course ID: XXXX An analysis report on case study on the topic of XXX for a large enrollment course.	1.	1.	1.
Idea 2 Course ID: XXXX
Idea 3 Course ID: XXXX

Sharing Back (10 min)

- Pick up one idea from your group to share back.
